Disgracing Greece

Yesterday, on 21/11/2017, I witnessed an unpleasant incident.

Late in the afternoon, I was at the central square of a German city while eating my dinner, outdoors.

My attention was attracted by the loud Greek voice of a, talking to his mobile phone, pedestrian whose walking path was near to my location.

His language was extremely vulgar and rude.

I feel shame for the behavior of this Greek citizen and I would like to apologize on his behalf.

The Greek citizens, as a rule, remain polite and behave with discretion, though there may be, also, few rare exceptions.

Nevertheless, from now on, the Greek citizens should never again forget that their behavior, when they visit foreign countries, represent the traits of the Greek nation.
