

Video Anna Politkovskaya remembered, danger for activists continues in Russia {youtube}q5DUxPNjG6I{/youtube}

www.youtube.com/watch?v=q5DUxPNjG6I

European Continent's Darkest Hours

One of the main indicators of a dictatorship's manifestation is the lack of freedom of speech. Since few decades back until today, advocating publicly, the human rights; the rule of law; the freedom to be heterosexual; the freedom to refuse the transhumanism; the democracy; the National Independence, etc. results, either, the death of the advocator (e.g. Bernd Seiffert, Archbishop Christodoulos, Malvina Karali, Socratis Giolias, Arkady Babchenko, Natalya Estemirova, Anna Politkovskaya, Takis Bompolas, etc.), or, the slandering of the advocator (e.g. Oleg Sentsov, Julian Assange, Christos Boumpoulis, etc.).

These days, almost, nobody denounces publicly the massive violations of the Human Rights within the European Continent.

These days, almost, nobody denounces publicly the multi-national crime of attempting to confiscate the Kirki copper mine, at the northern Greece.

These days, almost, nobody denounces the partial, militarization and instrumentallization, of the so-called "psychiatry" which takes place within some countries.

These days, almost, nobody denounces publicly the Greece's judicial system's bann of accessing, on behalf of the corresponding citizens, of the judicial files and the criminal records.

These days, almost, nobody denounces publicly the undeniable manifestations of the involuntary and illegal, human experimentations.

These days, almost, nobody denounces publicly the undeniable manifestations of the involuntary organs/tissues taking for smuggling.

These days, almost, nobody denounces publicly, the gangstalking (also tzeretzen torture), the involuntary brain implanting, the involuntary Monarch-programming, the colonialism, the forced marriages, the operations Condor, the Greece's population exchange, the Genocide of causing mental harm, against the Greek citizens, etc.

As far as I am concerned, in the past, I have, many times, been slandered and unjustly and dishonestly accused by false witnesses, in order for me to become, involuntarily, eligible for becoming subjected to human experimentation and most probably, for having some of my internal tissues become subtracted for smuggling.

These days, I promote publicly, the disclosure of the dictatorial character of Greece's political system; the disclosure of the existing within Greece of an enormously wealthy, though unexploited, mineral reserve of various minerals and energy resources; the disclosure of the perpetual and massive violations of Greek citizen's Human Rights; the Russian active operations towards paving the way for the Evros prefecture to become, in the near future, annexed to Russia.

These days, I rationally fear that, any day; any time, the colonizing Nation's non-uniformed Armys' members may slander me in order to "silence" me.

These days are the European Continent's darkest hours.

Christos Boumpoulis
economist